

Sure! The largest country by area is Russia, which covers an area of approximately 17.1 million square kilom eters (6.6 million square miles). This is about 1/8 of the Earth's total land area and roughly equivalent to the combined size of the United States, Canada, and China. Russia spans across much of northern Eurasia and shares borders with